As Middleburg's Own Paper celebrates its birthday with three tall candles this week, we go back to 1937 when the First Edition cleared the press and set out on a line for itself in the horseman's world. That first paper of eight pale pages made head-line news of the tragic passing of Welbourne Jake; Soldier's Fate had romped home with ten lengths to spare at the Foxcatcher meet and Missing Caddy had stolen the Fair fax show: a double-column statement First Principles (faithfully adhered to by the Chronicle), the coming Trinity Church Show and the fact that John L. Lewis had had luncheon at the Colonial Inn made up the Chronicle's initial front page offering. Now, under the telling masthead, "A true line needs no lash", ye Chronicle steps forth on strong legs that have replaced the wobbly ones of '37, the eight pages have trebled and three years of faithful and efficient effort have made seasoned editors of the Staff. The above bumpy poetry (!) does scant justice to the achievements of Middleburg's Thorough-bred, the only one of its

Robert S. Waters' big bay gelding Royalty II added another Hunter Championship to his impressive list of winnings when Miss Angelina Carabelli of the Columbus Horse Show committee pinned the tricolor his headstall at the close of the 6th annual 2-day exhibition sponsored by the Forest Glen Council of the Knights of Columbus at Meadowbrook Show Grounds in Chevy Chase, Md., last Sunday, September 8. Practically all of the points which led to this final award were garnered by the 16.3 hand son of War Whoop during the 2nd day's afternoon performances when, in addition to the Hunter Championship Preliminary, Royalty II annexed the $300 Hunter Stake, the Rosensteel Challenge Trophy for Corinthian Hunters and the 1st awarding of the "Bobby" Roby Perpetual Memorial Trophy. handsome silver trophy, donated by the many friends of one whose death last year cut short the career of Washington's best known show rider, was presented by Miss Betty Couzens and is to be awarded annually to the horse or pony win ning the greatest number of points. ny division, throughout the

HELPING HAND OFF

Hunter Championship By After All

The first, we hope annual, Helping Hand Horse Show, on Mr. and Mrs. James Austin's beautiful Catowha Farm grounds, got off to a flying start last Sunday, Sept. 8. Blessed by the gods, with brilliant, per fect weather, by Mrs. James Hewlett's herculean efforts, with a large and representative entry of well over 400; and by the committee, with smooth and efficient handling. it drew all the old friends of it's former incarnation, when it was called The Soldiers and Sailors, and many new ones.

After a day long battle for points, Blanche Clark's Lord Britain and Martin Vogel's *Demas entered the preliminary in a dead heat. Then somewhat to everyone's surprise them both: but Lord Britain's second gave him a whisker over *Demas, who was third; and thus they were pinned in the ensuing Championship. The champion stepped into an early lead by winning the Model Class, with *Demas down the course, tho it was hard to see how he was kept out of the ribbons. Mrs. S. C. Register's four-year-old Dun Pickin was second; he has a magnificient shoulder, great body, but looked to lack fineness of head and length of neck a model. Local girl made good

Trainer Raymond Woolfe Scores Double Victory As 12,000 Watch Races

Before a colorful, carefree crowd of some 12,000 hunt-meeting enthusiasts, the 7th Annual Foxcatcher National Cup Steeplechase, run over the beautiful 3 miles of grand Natonal fencing, last Saturday, Septemher 7, at Fair Hill, Maryland, re-solved into a spectacular double triumph for trainer Raymond G. Woolfe and a heart rending moment of tragedy for Emile Pfizer, owner of Farndale, Oleg T. Dubassoff, his trainer and everyone of the thousands jamming the five big grand-stands. Few races in history have ever had the unbelievable and confounding change of racing fortune that this National Cup event held in store for the final two fences.

F. Ambrose Clark's Top Wave, with Jockey Mc Govern up had been the pace-maker from the time that the field of 8 of the country's best jumpers went postward. The bearer of the light blue and yellow colors, who holds a none too popular posi-tion in the great Clark string, because of his unwillingness to break. et a rattling good pace which left Alvin Untermyer's Wambaw sprawling at the 5th and Montpelier's Farragut rolling end over end to smash up his rider Mr. William Jones at the 8th. Holmdel Stable's *Cartermoor, the eventual winner, ridden by Jockey S. Banks and owned jointly by Shelden Prentice and Percy R. Pyne III stayed close to the top, much of the time on even terms with Top Wave, through the first mile and a half. *Cartermoor jumped well and was full of run coming down the hill, back towards the stands, to the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th, as every rider awaited the 13th, "The Wall of China." to make his move

Abednigo Triumphs At Huntingdon Horse Show

By John W. Bagshaw

Virginia five year old gelding took top honors in the Jum-per Division at the Huntingdon County Horse Show held at Hunting-Pennsylvania, August 30, when Abednigo, owned by Mr. David I. Mc Cahill of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, came through to capture the championship ribbon for his owner. Much credit of course goes to the indomitable Mr. John W. Beach for his excellent handling of Abednigo.

This was a very popular victory in Huntingdon due to the fact that the genial chairman of the Hunting-

Top Weight Long Shot Returns Backers $17.30 At Timonium Saturday

Baltimorean Hugh J. O. Donovan's English-bred gelding *Tam O'Shanter romped away with two straight brush races at Timonium recently, leading home J. H. C. Forbes' Axacan, R. C. Waple's veteran War Port and others on Saturday, September, 7, only to repeat his performance last Tuesday, scoring this time over Irving Beavers' recent winner Forest Charm and War Port again, In Saturday's race over the 2 mile Maryland State Fair Grounds course, both Axacan and War Port had to concede *Tam O'Shanter several pounds, but in Tuesday's affair the son of Shrewd King or Southannan-Toy Cap was asked to shoulder topweight of 151, while War Port carried 3 pounds less and Forest Charm but 143.

*Tam O'Shanter was the longest shot of the five starters on Saturday, thus by his two-length victory over the favored Axacan, returned his backers $17.30. Hence, when he and Jockey Helicus paraded to the post three days later they were backed into favoritism, with Mrs. A. J. Booker's Perfect Liar, making his first appearance over jumps this second choice.

This time War Port, who had boldly cut out most of the running in the previous event, was satisfied to let another do the pacemaking and it was Forest Charm with Jockey Poland up who opened the way far out tn front. As had been his manner be-fore, Jockey Helicus did not hurry *Tam O'Shanter through the first mile, but waited until the late stages to make his move while keeping within striking distance of the The one mishap occurred leaders. when the John Bosley-trained Golden Reel, who had finished 4th in Saturday's race, unloaded his rider at the 10th fence. It was at this point that *Tam O'Shanter began to improve his position and before they had gone further was in front of Perfeet Liar and going after War Port.

As they headed into the stretch with the final fence behind them, Corest Charm was weakening from his lengthy pace-setting effort and *Tam O'Shanter was coming strong-ly. Overtaking War Port with ap-parent ease, the English gelding bore down on Forest Charm in the closing strides and drew clear to win by a good length and a half.

In Saturday's race *Tam O'Shan-ter had collered the pace-making War Port nearing the final fence and finished gamely under a hard drive as Axacan made every effort to reach him in the stretch. *Tam O'Shanter has scored twice before this year, once late in July when he beat M. J. Daly's Rouge Catalan at Bel Air and again in August when he took the neasure of both War Port and Rouge Catalan at Cumberland

Jacomar Captures Handicap For 2nd Straight

Son Of Jack High Comes From Behind To Take Command From Pictor

Mrs. E. Graham Lewis' Jacomar, 3-year-old son of the New Jersey sire Jack High who recently won the Huron Handicap at Saratoga, made two straight last Saturday, Sept 7, when he scored a surprise triumph over W. L. Brann's Pictor, J. E. Widener's favored Roman and others in the 16th running of the Bay Shore Handicap at Aqueduct. It was the first time the Bay Shore had been run at 7 furlongs and Jacomar, coming from behind in excellent form to take command in the last furlong and win by a clear length, covered the distance in 1.24 flat, just 4-5 of second off the track record. Though Jacomar did not rank among last juvenile stake winners, scored several minor victories and was 3rd in the Remsen Handicap at Jamaica, the Ardsley Handicap at Empire and the Albany Handicap at Saratoga. His first important triumph came in June of this year when he outgamed C. V. Whitney's Carrier Pigeon in the $5,000 added Shevlin Stakes at Aqueduct's earlier meet-The Bay Shore purse netted Jacomar's owner $4,925 and in-creased the colts' earnings for the year to slightly more than $15,000.

The Virginia-bred Gino Rex, Paul B. Codd's 4-year-old son of *Gino-Sun Tess, by *Sun Briar, came within 3-5 of a second of Aqueduct's track record for a mile and a furlong when he sped the distance in 1.51 4-5 to day's featured Pickwick Purse last Monday, September 9. was the fourth of such victories out of seven starts altogether this eason for Gino Rex, who won three straight last spring. Last year he won the Montauk Claiming Stakes at Belmont, while as a 2-year-old in 1938 he was 3rd to Entracte and Time Sheet in Empire's East View Stakes.

Clovelly Farm Plans Dispersal September 21

Frederick M. Warburg's Battle Day and Robert S. Waters' Royalty II are recognized by horsemen the over to be outstanding country heavyweight hunter types. The for-mer is a thoroughbred, the latter a halfbred. Both are by War Whoop, the chestnut son of Man o'War— Highest Appeal who heads the dis-persal of 55 head of stallions, mares, weanlings, 2-year-olds and hunters, the property of Robert C. Winmill, held at North Wales, adjacent to Mr. Winmill's Clovelly Farm, 3 miles south of Warrenton, next Saturday, Sept. 21. In this sale will be a full sister to Battle Day, the 6year-old chestnut mare Why Worry, and a full sister to Royalty II, the 7-year-old chestnut mare Rosette. Both are thoroughly made hunters.

Along with War Whoop also will go the grey stallion *Floral King, son of Herodote—Perce Neige, by Neil Gow. *Floral King is the sire of Bahadar, Unruly, Flowery, Seedling and Turnip and has several yearlings in the sale. The good producer Duchess Clovelly, by High Cloud—Heskiluna, by Hessian, and her steeplechasing daughter Little Duchess are also Bred by the late Willis Sharpe Kilmer, Gino Rex was sold in the 1937 Saratoga Sales for $4,500.

Mrs. E. C. Eastwood's Challamore. 3-year-old son of the great Maryland sire *Challenger II accounted for his second straight at Narragansett last Tuesday when he led W. F. Mannagh's Liberty Flight and six others across the line in a 6 furlong allow anc affair that carried a $1,600 purse. Prior to that, Challamore scored a similar victory on August 31. Challamore's one great performance thus far in his career, however, was when he won the Mary-land Futurity at Laurel last year, at which time he carried the colors of Maryland sportsman J. W. Y. Martin.

Following is a list of winners by sires from all East Coast states which have scored during the past seven days, from Wednesday, September 4, through Tuesday, September 10.

Bijoux Bassets With Mrs. Ford Open Season

Seven Couple Give Good Account Of Themselves On Banbury Cross Farm By Edward M. Ward, Jr.

On Labor Day the Bijoux Bassets had their opening meet at 10 A. M. at the kennels, Banbury Cross Farm, Old Chatham, New York. This private pack is the property of the master, Mrs. Consuelo U. Ford who hunts hounds herself most ably on Tuesdays and Fridays, weather permitting through the season. Mr. Quentin de Bermingham Ford is first whip and Thomas is second.

Jackrabbits are hunted.

The weather was decidedly wet for the ceremony of blessing the hounds which was accomplished by Father Casey after several arguments between some of the old hounds had been settled. The good Padre seemed rather apprehensive from his position in the doorway and was no end relieved when the quar-relsome members had been dragged apart by their sterns.

Mrs. Ford had a mixed pack of even couple, four of them first season hounds, and all of them doing excellent work. Hounds found their first hare in the bottom back of the kennels and hunted her over three big fields to a swamp where the undergrowth was so thick it was almost impossible for these fourteeninch hounds to get through. Scent was good in the open and it did not take long for them to put up another jack near Mr. Chester Braman's farm. This one ran to a swamp too could not shake off the pack as easily as the first had, so we kept going straight up a steep hillside and on to the next swamp. Unfortunately a road cut across the line of the jack, and along the road came a smoking Ford (vintage about 1920) so that by the time hounds reached it, not a vestige of scent was left. By this time it was 12:30 and as every one was drenched Mrs. Ford said, "Let's call it a day."

Back at her charming house the field was served a delightful luncheon. Among those out were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gammack (she is master of the Rinderkill Beagles) and "Bob" White, who got through the day very nicely mounted except when his horse decided to roll at one of the checks.

Mrs. Ford is expecting to show a pack as well as some individual hounds at Bryn Mawr and New York and should certainly add to her al-ready well-filled ribbon cases.

With Foxhunters Here And There

By W. Newbold Ely, M. F. H.

Apparently in the Eastern States, coyotes are often being blamed for the damage done by wild dogs, which just like cats gone wild, do more killing than is realized. The wild dog kills indescriminately and kills far more than it can eat. The coyote kills only what it needs according to authorities. Some angles on this were covered by the writer in "Country Life" last year.

A local paper of one of the counties in our hunting "country" brought out this interesting information: 'Coyotes will eventually spread to your Eastern farms,' or words to that effect, said John Preston, in 1910. He was born around 1830 in Plumstead township, Bucks County, Penna., but spent most of his life as a Mid-western farmer around St. Joe, Mo. The accuracy of his prediction was proved on January 19, 1939 when a coyote was killed near Dilts Corner, Hunterdon county, N. J. For some time a pack of 'wild dogs' have annoyed farmers and poultry men in that locality. In October 1938, Harold Horn of New Hope, took his hounds over there and an attempt was made to round them up. Unfortunately a native grey fox was in the same territory and the highly trained specialists took the line of the quarry they had been trained to hunt. A few weeks later a farm hand killed one of the pack. Shortly another drive was organized and three more were shot. Unfortunately none of these got into the hands of any one competent to give it a name The consensus of opinion among the natives put them down as just dogs, probably with German Shepherd Shepherd blood, gone wild. When this speci-men was shot in January, Paul Niemeyer and Thomas McDowell scientists from the New Jersey State Museum at Trenton, procured it and definitely identified it as a female covote about one year of age. The specimen now in the hands of the Museum measured by tape: length, inches; height at shoulder, 19 inches; girth, 19 inches; tail. inches; weight, 25 pounds. The tail probably is the most outstanding distinguishing feature for the lay-man's notice. It is round, heavily furred, instead of flat as in most dogs, and much shorter in propor tion to hody length. Otherwise they might easily be mistaken by a care less observer for an undersized police dog. The greatest difficulty in identifying them in Hunterdon county was the disbelief of the nat-ives who saw them that they could be anything but just dogs. The first four shot were disposed of, before one with sufficient knowledge had an opportunity to see them.

"In 1910, Mr. Preston's theory of distribution was simply that during his residence in Missouri they had adapted themselves to conditions following the country's farming development, and were increasing. They would, therefore, spread through natural production. The museum group believe that they have been carried East as "cute puppies" by tourists and discarded when grown, that they may have escaped from one or more of the numerous small zoos at amusement parks or gas stations and such. At any rate they are here, There is sufficient food and cover. They have proved an ability to live along with man and his control of environment in similar climate. In habit they are somewhat similar to foxes. Larger, they of necessity require more food. Some authorities declare they are wiser. They may make really excellent sport ahead of hounds. Time alone will tell just exactly how they stack up as assets or liabilities in our wild life accounts.

Sterling Larrabee Gives Up Hounds To Mrs. Hinckley

The following note has been received from Miss Ann W. Kenyon, Secretary-Treasurer of Old Dominion Hounds, established 1924. Crest

"In recognition of your past interest in the Old Dominion Hounds, we wish to notify you that in view of unsettled conditions here and abroad. Captain Larrabee feels that abroad, Captain Larrabee feels that he is no longer able to assume the responsibility of the Mastership of these hounds and has resigned in favor of Mrs. John A. Hinckley.

"At a meeting held on June 27 officers were elected and a hunt committee formed in an endeavor to maintain this pack of hounds and continue fox-hunting in this country. We consider ourselves extremely fortunate in having procured the cooperation of Mr. William A. Laing in this undertaking.

Horses Like Individuals Must Be Hardened Up According To Separate Requirements

by J. FAIRFAX-BLAKEBOROUGH

The census taken by the Jockey Club as to how many horses remain in training and how many could and would be sent back into training if a fairly general resumption of Autumn racing was arranged arouses an interesting question. That is: In how short a space of time could horses which have been thrown out of regular work be got ready to race? This, of course, is an individual matter and it would be interesting to see the various replies of trainers giving their views as to the length of time each considers necessary to "ready" horses to run in public. First we would have the opinions as to how many weeks different trainers deem requisite to get fit horses which have been turned out to grass; secondly, the period each thinks should be allowed to 'get as they want them' two-yearolds and colts which have been kept up on hard (if reduced) fodder and have daily had trotting exercise on the roads and occasional slow work on the gallops. The former (from grass), with few exceptions, could scarcely be got fit for any flat racing in September. As for those which have been kept in more or less hard condition, some could be got into racing fettle with a pipe opener or two; others would take longer. It is impossible to generalise with race-horses some of which come to hand quickly and early in the year, whilst others take much longer and are not at their best until much later in the season. The whole question resolves itself into what I have so often written here,-each racehorse is, or should be, an individual study.

As a matter of fact quite, a number of horses which had been turned out to grass in the north have been put back into training. One can only imagine that this is in the hope of an extended flat race season and that such animals will meet others which have had no longer preparation. Ninety racehorses out of a hundred after being turned out to grass undo in a couple of weeks the process of hardening and muscling up which it has taken months to achieve. One of the exceptions I remember was a mare called Mab (by Bread Knife) over which a coup was once brought off at Doncaster She was turned out during a dry summer at her trainer's place, Branton Court, near Knaresborough, and was given a feed of corn night and morning. The herbage was not of the soft, "lush" sort to put on a lot of flabby fat, and the mare seemed to keep her muscles in condition such exercise as she gave herself. Anyhow, within an incredibly short time after being brought up in early August it was found in a up gallop that she was almost at her best. She was entered for a race, newspaper reports had shown her back in training only a week or two, no one except a few connected with the stable fancied her, the tale went round that she had been out at grass about three weeks previous, and Mab starting at a nice price, won with ease.

This, as I have said, was an exceptional case in an exceptional year. Ordinarily it takes several weeks, lots of preparation and long. slow work, to get either racehorses or hunters hard after a period of freedom in the pastures. Moreover. the methods of trainers vary. Some have never approved of hurrying the preparation of animals under their charge and would require a longer period than others. The replies received to the Jockey Club ques-tionaire will illustrate this divergence of views of men with long ex-Obviously those horses which have been on hard meat and which have been kept in rather more than semi-racing condition, will have such an advantage over flat racers taken out of training that it would seem almost useless the latter competing. Everyone who has had perience with horses knows how they differ in constitution and how two animals of similar age, may be given indentical treatment from the time they were yearlings, yet one may be winning races before the other is anything like fit. Trainers speak of these latter as being "slow to come to hand", and each season there are a considerable number of two-yearolds which in normal times cannot be got into racing condition. The patient trainer who is fortunate enough to have equally patient patrons, will not hurry such animals, knowing that to do so would probably ruin them. It is not, however, young stock only which vary so in the time required to get them into form. Although accentuated perhaps in the thoroughbred, this applies equally to all horses--hunters, farm animals and even ponies. It was the late Duke of Richmond and Gordon who, after much experience, gave it as his opinion that "two-year-olds do not go on improving during the winter because nature insists on taking a rest. I think the same applies horses that have not been much trained, or not run quite as much as in the case of those that have been running on all the summer. With steeplechasers and hurdlers

With steeplechasers and hurdlers it is, of course, another matter. It will follow as a natural course that if flat racing is to be resumed the National Hunt Committee will at once set about arranging a list of fixtures. In this they will be guided more by the number of horses likely to be in training in certain areas than by any other consideration. Naturally only those executives will apply for dates who know that their tracks will be available and whose finances will stand the possibility of compulsory abandonment after considerable expense has been incurred in preparation for a meeting. One thing is certain, there can be no racing on any course in Scotland this year and may be for longer.

When the question of the propriety of racing cropped up in the early days of the last war the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, then a prominent member of the Jockey Club and whom I have previously quoted, said:

"I don't myself set much store by the breed of horses argument, but look at it from a practical point of view,—the many wage earners affected. Many people go racing purely as a holiday. If you are going to stop racing, logically football, theatres, etc. ought to stop. I am afraid the opponents of all sport would redouble their efforts after the war. Was it not the old Covenanters who objected to bull baiting, not from any kindly feeling towards the bull, but because it amused the spectators?"

The death of Sir Abe Bailey is a blow to the Turf. I knew him and will remember him best as a gallant sportsman under much which all his wealth could not prevent, and as an amusing companion whose conversation was refreshing because of its frequent spontaneous wit. One of his remarks, made when he was the guest of the Gimcrack Club at York, riveted itself on my mind. It was this: "It is most libellous and untrue to say that all those who go racing are rogues and vagabonds, but my lords and gentlemen, it does seem to me that all the rogues and vagabonds seem to go racing.

A correspondent asks for details of 'a match between a foxhound running to a drag and a horse ridden—at Newmarket over a course of four miles'. He imagines that Esquire Osbaldeston made the match but he possibly is confusing the famous match (30th Sept. 1763) between Blue Cap and Wanton, the property of Mr. Smith Barry, Master of the Cheshire foxhounds, and a couple of Mr. Meynell's hounds. This contest was run over the Beacon course at Newmarket and it is on record that 'sixty horses started with the hounds. Mr. Smith Barry's huntsman, Cooper, was first up but the mare that carried him was quite blind at the end'.

They beat Misty Isle upon the occasion of her Metropolitan debut, which was in the Babylon Handicap, at Aqueduct, on September 7. handicapper had, incidentally, taken good care of her, for she was required to assume 122 pounds and concede weight to everything else in the race, and eleven opposed her. King Cole, to whom she was giving nine pounds under the scale, ran away with the event, winning off by himself in very fast time. She, however, finished second, and among those behind her was the heavy favorite, Tangled, together with Big Stakes, Good Turn and other pro-

This was Misty Isle's eleventh race this season, of which she has won five, second in four, and third in the remaining two never behind the pay station. As is almost always the c nowadays, she has been sent to the barrier too often, and has been facing it ever since early March in Florida. But her consistency has served her so well that her winnings, $19,175, place her second only to Blue Delight among the season's junior fillies, that daughter of Blue Larkspur being credited with $23,-

Previously to her effort at Aqueduct. Misty Isle had been seen in the East but once; that having been at Delaware Park, in May, when she ran second to Blensign, then at the top of his form, in the Dover Stakes. Otherwise her campaign, which, as aforesaid, began in March at Miami, had taken her to Keeneland and Churchill Downs, in Kentucky; then to Delaware, and back west to the Chicago front, where she appeared both Arlington and Washington Park, winning three of her four starts. Her only defeat at these meetings was when she ran second to Blue Delight in the rich Arlington Matron Stakes. Until she made her r'entree at Aqueduct, she had been resting at Saratoga since going east.

If you have not yet seen Misty Isle, and the opportunity presents, for my sake don't fail to improve it. To me she is the most charming thing that the season has produced. Seldom has anything so fast, so game and so reliable in the shape of 2-year-old feminity been at the same time so pleasing to the aesthetic sense.

Bred and owned by Mr. J. E. Widener at his famous Elmendorf Stud, just outside Kentucky's turf metropolis, she is a rather light metropolis, she is a rather light chestnut by his celebrated English stallion *Sickle—and, curiously enough, King Cole, who defeated her is by *Sickle's own brother, *Pharamond II, both being sons of Phalaris and Selene, by Chaucer. Her dam is Seven Pines, young mare by Haste; both that matron and her sire having also been bred by Mr. Widener. From the standpoint of the beautiful, nothing seen upon the turf compares with a 2-year-old filly of finest type. Of that type Misty Isle is an arresting example. Not only is she exquisitely formed and finished at all points—along with that she has the "indefinable something" which the word "charm" only faintly expresses. I have watched her repeatedly in the saddling paddock, the walking ring and upon the race

In his Eighty Years Reminiscences, Col. Anstruther Thomson wrote (vol 1 p. 228);

'In June 1859 the Duke of Beauford and Lord Winchelsea made a match-hounds against racehorses. The Duke backed hounds. He got a from Cumberland with a trail hound to train the hounds. The trail hound was high on the leg, light of bone, with a sharp nose, light-colored and rather like a collie. The man was rather offended with me because I asked if his dog was a foxhound ... The match did not come off in conequence of the illness or death of some relation.

When Redcar Races were run on the sands a contest was staged be-tween racehorses and half a dozen of the Cleveland foxhounds, but this proved a fiasco as the drag laid was so strong it blew out to sea and thither hounds followed it. The late Col. R. Maysey Thompson in The Camp, the Course and the Chase, records a test of speed between horses and the Bedale Hounds during the Mastership of Mr. John Booth, who was a party to the arrangement and took part in the gallop. In the days when match making was popular there were a number of wagers as to the relative speed of foxhounds in neighboring packs, and also of greyhounds and racehorses course, always with the same fascination and delight. Her sire, *Sickle, is a stallion of a somewhat smaller pattern than most of the leading sires of the day (he has twice been American premier, first in 1936 and again in 1938), but wonderfully fine and bloodlike, his "quality" being of the highest. Many of his get breed after him in that regard, it is rare to see e, gross or illshaped one. But Misty Isle is not merely beautifulshe enthralls the observer by her grace, her airy, dainty ways, her irresistible "sex appeal."

Somewhat strangely-but heightening her combination of attributes, she does not fly away from the post, as one might expect, on the contrary, she is a rather slow beginner charts of her races show that she has only once shown in front until the better part of the route was traversed. It is not until rounding upper turn that she reaches the front-but then the burst of speed she displays, and the determination she unleashes, are tremendous. Again and again she has "mowed them down' in magnificent style, her rush being irresistible. This style of rac-ing, has its drawbacks, as was shown at Aqueduct, where she was unable to overtake a colt like King Cole, with intense speed, a big advantage in the weights, and a clear path.

Misty Isle has been called upo for a great deal in her 2-year-old form. It is my hope, however, that she will retire sound and well, in which event her outlook for the filly classics as a 3-year-old should be econd to none, for she is in every way adapted to "go on.

FARNDALE'S ACCIDENT

At Foxcatcher on Saturday, a grand Hunt Meeting was spoiled to some extent by the fatal accident to that fine steeplechase horse Farndale. One of the very best in the game and the leading steeplechaser in 1939, the son of Forerunner-Four Fours was making a splendid bid for victory over the last fence. His rider, Sidney Watters is quoted as saying that Farndale, tired but game made a mighty jump, took off too far away and landed almost in the brush, pulling his front leg back with such force as to destroy his shoulder. Whatever the cause, the accident was unavoidable and a grand horse will race no more. What is important now is the best way to handle such accidents that will happen in any game so as to bring the least reflection on the sport from those who are only too eager to tear it down through lack of understanding of the sporting principles involved, through some jealously other personal reason that involves their own welfare great shock for the racing public, in fact for anyone who has a spark of sensitivity, to see a beautiful animal but a moment before the very spirit and epitome of life and vitality, suddenly stricken and destroyed before their eyes. In this case many people felt at the time, the writer among them, and many still do, that it was very bad for steeplechasing to destroy this horse right in front of the grandstand. It is not often that an accident like this happens so as to force itself upon everybody's consciousness with such striking reality. When it does the shock is pretty bad and pretty sudden. you come to think of the problem involved, however, it seems that those in charge of how to handle the question of what to do with Farndale at the moment, acted with the best interests of Farndale in mind and that after all is with the best interest of steeplechasing. The great trouble was the fact there was no horse ambulance at hand which was low enough to enable the horse to be taken from the field without a struggle. Falling the ambulance, the only method of removing Farndale from the front of the stands as he stood there with one leg pitifully held in the air, head lowered, seemingly knowing his fate, was in a van. Eight or ten strong men in the front, at his quarters and with hands interlocked under his stomach might have heaved him on to the van without a struggle. The probability is, however, that no matter how careful or how skilled the men were in this maneuver, the effort would have caused Farndale excruciating agony. He might have reared back and fallen over which would have upset onlookers considerably more than the instant spent in putting him out of his misery.

Even though the attempt to get him in the van and out of sight of onlookers was completed successfully, this was not so important as the fact that a gallant friend was suffering, was hopelessly maimed. The kindest, most sporting act of all was to relieve him of his pain as quickly and as painlessly as possible. So Faradale received a pistol bullet for the world to see. A grand horse went to his horse heaven with the cries of a cheering public still ringing in his ears. The favorite to win and making a gallant effort not to disappoint, he did his best. Was there anything more for mankind to do, but to do their best by him and put him out of pain in the best way they knew how. In every phase of activity, accidents happen and when they do the first and only thing to consider is how to ease the suffering of the one immediatey concerned, regardless of any probable consequence. By such unselfish considerations, great causes are sometimes aided most of all.

PAYING ITS WAY

Middleburg and the adjoining country of Northern Virginia hold the rather unique position of being principally a horse raising community. country town, with no hospital within thirty miles, its inhabitants have been dependent on the hospitals in Washington or Winchester for those sudden emergencies that even in the days of speedy transportation often cannot be handled promptly enough. On March 15, 1939, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mellon handled promptly enough. On March 15, 1939, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mellon generously donated a completely equipped health unit to the community to be used by all of those who needed it. Equipped with all of the most modern first aid material and supplies, the Health Center has been of great assistance to this horse loving community whose accidents come sometimes fast and furious with exercise boys taking tumbles, with foxhunters coming to grief and have more schooling young boyses finding themselves with some to grief and horsemen schooling young horses finding themselves with something wrong from the misdeeds of a fractious colt.

Not the least helpful of the many aids to health maintained by the Health Center since its inception is attendance at all Race Meetings and Point to Points, just in case medical assistance is needed. So far this project that has given care to every type of individual from sportsman to undernourished has given care to every type of individual from sportsman to undernourished school children has been financed almost entirely by Mr. and Mrs. Mellon. With the announcement of the broadening of the Center to include both Loudoun and Fauquier Counties in name as well as in representation, it is time to think of how this extremely worthwhile institution in this sporting center can be made self-supporting. The generosity of Mr. Mellon is not going to last forever and he expressly stipulated that he would not be responsible for its maintenance for more than two or three years. This first aid health center has more than proved its worth in taking care of the community. It will be up to the community to take care of it someday, and the sooner the better.

munity. It will has sooner the better.

Letter To Editor

No Play's Winnings

Middleburg, Va

Dear Sirs

I am interested in knowing the winnings of a thoroughbred hunter -No Play (Espino-Play Flower) in the Upperville Show of June 1938. He was in classes 13-16-17-18-19-20-28. I would like very much to know the results.

We enjoy your magazine more each week

> Sincerely yours W. M. Howell

Avoca, Pa Sept. 9, 1940

Editor's note: according to Chronicle records No Play was 1st in the Founders Cup, class for horses bred and owned in Fauquier and Loudoun Counties; was unplaced in other classes at Upperville that year.

RUNNING IN THE 7TH ANNUAL NATIONAL CUP AT FAIR HILL, MD., LAST SATURDAY
Photos by Bert Morgan

F. Ambrose Clark's TOP WAVE, with Jockey McGovern up, led the way over the water at the 4th, as the eventual winner was well up. FARRAGUT, #10, with Mr. W. Jones up, who was to come to grief at the 8th was 3rd at this juncture. This order remained at the 5th fence, pictured below.

Coming to the last fence, both Emile Pfizer's FARNDALE (left), with Mr. Sidney Watters, Jr., up, and CARTERMOOR, owned jointly by Sheldon Prentice and Percy R. Pyne III in the name of Holmdel Stable were tired. CARTERMOOR rose to his fence though FARNDALE, lapped on his quarters, either took off too far back to land in the top of the fence or tore his shoulder in the take-off. He floundered through the fence, pecked but stood up, though losing his rider and then pulled up dead lame. He was destroyed. In the 100 yard run-in from the last fence, CARTERMOOR had but a gallop.

Walking from the track back to the saddling enclosure, Sheldon E. Prentice of Far Hills, N. J., and Percy R. Pyne III, of Bernardsville, N. J., joint-owners of the Holmdel Stable's *CARTERMOOR, seemed very pleased last Saturday as did Jockey S. Banks and Mr.
Woolfe's stable head. *CARTERMOOR is a 7-year-old son of ROIDORE-VALK, from England.
Trainer Woolfe is not present.

Jockey F. Bellhouse, on F. Ambrose Clark's NIGHT HERON made the running in the 2 miles over brush, secondary feature at the National Cup. The winner is on the inside, DUNDRILLIN with Jockey E. Roberts up. C. Mahlon Kline's TARBRUSH, #2, later ran out with the race easily won at the last fence. Jockey Passmore was up. D. B. Barrows' QUAKERSTREET is shown above, #3, with G. Reed up.

NATIONAL CUP

"The Wall of China," the highest of the 19 big fences, stands over 6'-3", although horses can brush through the top. Every rider in the race Saturday, showed a disposition to wait until landing over this big jump, some 10'-0" thick at its base, before increasing his speed over the final mile and 6 fences, Jockey Walker had held Bagpipe to the right end of the 11th and gained much ground in the ensuing right-handed turn for Whitelaw Reid color-bearer, whereas *Cartermoor had jumped the middle of this fence and had to hurry to take the top and lead to the 13th in front of Bagpipe. This was the order over "The Wall of China," with Parma 3rd, owned by L. W. Robinson, Jr., Farndale 4th and his entry-mate *Bois Chabot last.

The run around the hill-side and up the hill to the 14th and the turn to the 15th witnessed Parma's move the front. This Messenger son, with Jockey Terrell up, was "carrying the mail" as he turned on a blistering pace. It was evident that Farndale, with Mr. Sidney Watters, Jr., up, which combination had won the 1938 National Cup Renewal and set the record of 6:05-3-5, was not the horse he was a year ago, as he had been the one to save the ground to the 13th and take command from there on home. Mr. Watters Jr., could be seen attempting to get him up, but Parma's endurance was greater and in between him and the leader ran *Cartermoor.

Parma led by a full 3 lengths as the field came around the final turn from the 16th. He had taken command and seemed a sure thing. Back of him labored *Cartermoor, Farndale, Bagpipe, Top Wave and *Bois Chabot, None of them seemed sufficiently fitted for this route which is actually but 3 miles, but in reality, with the great thickness of the fend which takes a great deal out of horses going deep into them, a horse to win strongly must have been trainalmost a 3 1-2 mile to a 4 mile effort.

Landing over the 17th, the last big fence of the course, Jockey Terrill lapsed mentally for a minute, for-got the course and made for the way had gone from the start, The railings were now put up again and it must have been a wicked moment with Parma headed for the plank fence. In this instant Jockey Terrill ppreciated his mistake and swung Parma back in a sharp "S" turn to the right, in which Parma showed the tractibility and bending talent of a polo-pony. In reflection, this was most enjoyable highlight the day. An excellent example of thoroughbred's willingness of heart was displayed by Parma. After going all but 3 miles, he went to figureeighting to get to the next to the last The manner in which he responded was remarkable.

But in the meanwhile, when Parma left the course, *Cartermoor and Farndale, but 3 lengths back of him over the 17th were putting on the race of the afternoon. Both were driving, with *Cartermoor and Jockey Banks having an advantage of a length at the 18th where Bagpipe came down, and through the flat to the last and 19th where Mr. Watters Jr., was making every use of Farndale to get him up. *Cartermoor had Farndale lapped on his quarters as he rose to the last fence, one of the regular smaller course and which is not as well turned as the big course jumps. *Cartermoor rose-Farndale never got to the top *Cartermoor landed running and galloped home a limber horse, some 8 lengths ahead of Parma, whose gameness enabled him 8 lengths ahead to gain 2nd after Farndale's mishap

Several explanations have been made of Farndale's last fence misadventure. Some declare that he took off with *Cartermoor, lapped on the latter's quarters, was tired, reached for the fence and drove both front feet deep into the center of it. Others feet deep into the center of it. Others believe that he tore his shoulder in his take-off effort. At any rate, he necked after floundering through pecked after floundering through the fence, unloaded Mr. Watters Jr., in an easy fall, stepped on him and then pulled up absolutely lame, unable to put his off-fore on the ground. With the horse suffering terrific pain, Dr. R. D. Coneley and Dr. C. L. Mackie, Official Veterinarians, Morris H. Dixon, Clerk of the Course, and Mr. Dubassoff, trainer, decided upon immediately destroying the champion 'chaser of 1939.

The supporting steeplechase, The Fair Hill, of 2 miles brought forth but 4 horses. Sixteen had been named. The practice of owners riddling cards with scratches reduced the National Cup field from 17 to a field of 8, with but 5 interests

Duncan H. Read's Dundrillin, enjoying a perfect ride from Jockey E. galloped home in Hill, with Mr. Clark's Night Heron under a vicious drive from Jockey Bellhouse getting 2nd. C. Mahlon Kline's Tarbrush, with Jockey W. Passmore up, looked to be the strongest, with but two fences to go, when he ducked out, as is the habit of this 6-year-old Sun Beau gelding.

Morris H. Dixon saddled both the winners in the flat races, as well as the 2nd horse in the 7 furlong ef-fort, when Mr. Kline's Winged Hoofs, 3-year-old *Gino-Sun Dancer, and Argentino, an imported 5-year-old South America, galloped home in this order. This was in the final when Rokeby Stable's Good Chance, with Jockey Roberts up was Mr. Dixon had previously saddled J. Brooks Parker's Hants to win the long mile and 7 furlong flat race, the Big Elk. Hants had won the ewisville Flat last year, taken by Winged Hoofs this year.

When Farragut rolled out Mr. Jones, this well known gentleman rider came away with a broken collar

In the seven year history of this famous "Aintree of America" meeting, this was the first time that a professional rider had come home the winner in the National Cup and the first time a professional had ridden the winner in the Lewisville, 7 furlong race. Previous winning riders in the National Cup have been Mr. Robert B. Young, Mr. Sidney Hirst, Mr. P. D. Reid, Mr. J. S. Harrison and Mr. Sidney Watters. Jr. In the Lewisville the winning riders have been: Mr. Carroll K. Bassett, winner in 1935, Mr. James E. Ryan; Mr. J. V. H. Davis, Mr. Rigan Kinney and Mr. J. S. Harrison Jr

This National Cup Meeting has alays been closely associated with late Gentleman-Rider-Trainer William B. Streett. Many in perusing the program, remembered how his Melita ridden by Mr. Young win in 1934; how Bill had saddled Frank M. Gould's What Have You, and S. A. Warner Baltazzi's Ad Lib to win in 1936 and 1938 respectively.

Chatham Horse Show Revival Proves Great Success

After a lapse of a couple of years the Chatham Horse Show at Chat-ham, New York was revived in connection with the 100th Anniversary of the Columbia County Agricultural Society Fair, on September 2. Under the impetus provided by Chester A. Braman, President of the Agricultural Society and ex-M. F. H. of the Old Chatham Hounds, and with the skilled management of Captain Dirk Van Ingen the revival got off to a good start and the auguries for a successful continuance the annual events are distinctly favorable.

In spite of torrential rains for two days before the show, the go-ing in the ring and on the outside course was remarkably good and everything was ran off on schedule and without casualty.

Troop B, 121st Cavalry, New York National Guard were consistent with their Bridemaid and Marine throughout the show and built up a scope that sent them home to their Albany armory with both the Jumper Championship and Reserve, the Championship going to Bridesmaid a veteran who is well known in the New York shows.

don Show, Mr. James C. Morgan, owned this particular animal for year before selling him to Mr. Mc-Cahill, and had showed him previously at Huntingdon.

Reserve Championship in this division was taken by Miss Allithea B. Cary's Little Thunder from Boston Hill Farms, Boston Hill, New York.

In the Hunter Division a close race for Championship honors was waged by Miss Jane Flaccus' Senate Page from Sharpsburg, Pennsylvania and Mr. U. S. Randle's Top Mask from Fairfax, Virginia, the former edging out a win for the Champion-ship trophy and ribbon over the latter.

The Hunter and Jumper Judges were Mrs. Frederick L. Van Lennep of Bryn Mawr, Pennyivania and Mr. Victor P. Noyes of Giddings, Maryland. The Saddle Horse and Pony Judge was Mr. Frank E. Robertson of Summit, New Jersey.

The show was a fine success from ery angle, particularly that of the exhibitors. The Huntingdon Show boasts that it is the show "where the exhibitor receives first considera-tion", and this is certainly borne out in the conduct of the show

A number of showers the second day dampened the exhibitors and the spectators but had no effect whatever on the spirits of either.

The Huntingdon Show is growing each year, having now reached the point where it is Central Pennsylvania's real show.

STERLING LARRABEE

"We fully realize that the resignation of Captain Larrabee as Master constitutes a loss to sport in Virginia as well as to us, but under the cir cumstances we propose to carry on to the best of our ability.
"It is our hope that we will have the pleasure of your continued interest and on your days with these hounds that they will show fine sport and live up to their good name which they have enjoyed these many years under the able Mastership of Captain Larrabee."

Will Putnam, professional, will continue as huntsman: Charles Kines, Merritt Sugg as professional whipper-ins.

for third, in the rather attractive bay mare Kip, of Mrs. Robertson's, though here again, if fault must be found, knees were a bit the worse for wear for perfect symmetry. Big, lovely Scotchwood, who lacks only oomph and a finer head, was fourth. From then on there was considerable diversification in the more important es and no foregone conclusion who the ribbons were on.

The outside course, which follows the boundary of magnificent trees, is all on aged, springy turf, natural looking well-spaced fences, and looks a pleasure to ride over. The Irishman, *Dalchoolin, won Middle and Heavyweights, with *Demas missing out on the ribbons and, indirectly, the Championship. Lord Britain, on the other hand, lost no time building up his claim, and won the good Lightweight division, with Morton Govern's Siamese Twin Boys, First Choice, and Merry Sea right behind him, and such past and present celebrities as Orphan Boy,

Dun Pickin, and Garann "not there."

The slashing, blaze-faced Chelsea Ruscus who several years ago did so well under Mary Jackson's aegis, garnered a high-order working hun-ter class for new boss Govern. *Dalchoolin was right on his heels, and the local lights Garann, of Frances Gibbs, and Charming Laddie, a Belmont Park looking son of Sun Charmer, from the Adrian Larkin Farm, outdoing all the visiting firemen to round it out.

Elizabeth Hyland, as so often before, turned the key on *Demas to win the Ladies Class. Ruscus was second, and Dolly von Stade's real hunting horse, the little grey mare Mary Jean, a bang-up third. The Hyland-Demas combination came right back to take the amateur afnosing out arch-rival Lord

The classes for young hunters, and the hack group also produced a galaxy of winners, *Demas won the Green Class over the outside, with another ex-Jacksonite, now Gover-Lord of Orgile, second and Scotchwood third, tho he came back to win suitables, where no jumping was required and qualifications were divided fifty-fifty for conformation and hacking. His manners are al-ways of a perfection and he always seems ready to make you a hot lemonade or read you a story. A real nice, big, three year old of the Larkins, the registered bay Endeavorer, was second, and will go higher next year. Dun Pickin, third here, was able to turn around and win Hunter Hacks, with Scotchwood down to second and Lord Britain. who so often wins these, third. He in turn won the bridle path class, tho going quite saddley and behind his bridle when they were asked to trot on. A chestnut mare called Sister, of Miss Patricia Lennen's, looked all over the winner from outside the ring but could only get third, beaten him and *Dalchoolin.

In the five-year old class Kip took the whole thing, three Kees horses feeling out the ribbons, and *Demas, Dun Pickin, Endeavorer, etc, out of the picture.

The Gibbs' bought Little Squire a few weeks ago for some folding money, considering his age and size, and had a disappointing with him. He missed his Mickey and couldn't get jumping at all except for fifth in the stake. Kinnegad, almost old enough to vote twice, won the morning open class for owner Powers, with that marvel of safety

BRYN MAWR HOUND SHOW

The American Foxhound Club is donor of several trophies, which will be awarded on the day the club meets at Bryn Mawr. One is for the best American foxhound in the show and another is for the best American foxhounds.

The Masters of Foxhounds Association of America is the donor of trophies offered in English and s-bred foxhound classes

The National Beagle Club of America has offered trophies for two new classes for beagles; for 13" and respectively. 15" beagles, Jackson H. Boyd, who with his brother, James, is joint master of the Moore County Hounds, at Southern Pines, N. C., will judge American foxhounds. The Right Honorable Francis Willey, Lord Barnby, of Scopwick House, Lincolnshire, England, will judge the English, cross-bred and Welsh foxhounds.

Beagles and Harrier classes will be judged by John W. Scott, of Earleville, Md. Dr. Thomas Butler Snyder, of Kimberton, Pa., will judge the bassets.

Hunter Division Has Top Horses At Ohio Fair

Mrs. Reuben's Hasty Lassie Crowned Champion With Jitney Jingle Reserve

By Ringsider

At the close of a week marked by large classes and consistently ragged performances, Mrs. A. E. Reuben's Hasty House Farm's well known Hasty Lassie was crowned Champion of the Ohio State Fair, in Columbus, Ohio, Friday, August 30. Bryn Du Farm's 4-year-old green gelding, Jitney Jingle, making his first appearance over 4'-0" was re-warded with the Reserve, on the basis of his victory in the Hunter Hacks and the Open Hunters.

Hasty Lassie, turning in a very satisfactory round over the eight 3'-6" fences in the Ladies' was tied over Miss Lucy Kaufman's Demopolis now of Indianapolis, Indiana who will be remembered for his Washington D. C. Championship under the banner of the W. Haggin Perrys, of Keswick, Va. Midshipman, a nice moving thoroughbred, owned by Mrs. George Sadlier also of Indianapolis, and one of the large string handled by Max Bonham for Middle- Western owners, was 3rd, while Stanley Luke, of Chicago, Ill., had the winner of the 4th place in Hasty Lassie's second blue came in the Corinthian where the performances were so ragged that she was the best with a hind knock-down over the second fence of the in-andout. In this event, Midshipman had the best of the performances but was placed 2nd by Christopher Wadsworth, judge, because of incomplete appointments. The 3rd and 4th places went to two consistent other than thoroughbred hunters of many years experience in Standley Luke's Ilderton and Misses Nancy and Sally Miller's Goldon Bow of Indianapolis and Chicago.

Jitney Jingle scored his first blue in the Hunter Hacks, over Miss Mary E. Willis' Glory Road, formerly of Virginia, now of Indianapolis and also under the management of Max Bonham, Hasty Lassie and Demopolis were 3rd and 4th. In the event for Hunters, Any Weight, Jitney Jingle, sparkling son of Bad Bill, bested James Vernor's Bar Baffling, who was easily the most consistent performer of the week. He was re gularly in position for a ribbon but never quite made off with a blue. The 3rd in this Class was Mrs. W. D. Mc Cullough's Reagh Lee, from Rochester, Mich., whose record for the week was not equal to that which he ran up at this same show a year ago, when he won the Stake and with it the tricolor.

In Golden Dawn, Misses Nancy and Sally Miller have a big and kindly going chestnut who could not be denied on the basis of his manners and steadiness over his fences, in both the Other Than Thoroughbred and the Stake. Both of these classes are held over the figure eight course which contains almost more turns than fences and it was his ability to negotiate these turns and get himself in right at the fences that gave him a way of going that none of the others could match. Still he is not as good a mover as some, which accounted for his not being further up in the Championship.

The breeding events were notable chiefly as an indication of how far interest in thoroughbred breeding has progressed in what used to be almost strictly a saddle horse com-

C. H. Dimick's chestnut gelding *ON GUARD captured the Hunter Championship at the 1st Annual Watnong Hills Horse Show, held in Morris Plains, N. J., last Sunday, Sept. 8. Shown above with Frank Hawkins up, who rode the 16.2 hand 5-year-old to his triumph, *ON GUARD was purchased by Mr. Dimick, of Tenafly, N. J., some four months ago from Morton W. Smith of Greenwich, Conn., and barely missed tieing for the Orangeburg Championship in August as Mrs. Walter T. Kees' *DALCHOOLIN scored over him by half a point.
He also recently won the Hunter Championship at the last Boulder Brook Show. *ON GUARD is an Irish horse brought to this country a year and a half ago.

Lieut. John W. Morris, of Staten Island, N. Y., took his jumper DANFURTH to the Litch-field (Conn.) Horse Show last month and won the Championship, retiring at the same time the Eugene H. Outerbridge Memorial Challenge Trophy which had been in competition since 1933. Last Saturday, Sept. 7, DANFURTH added another jumper tricolor to his winnings when he was pinned Champion at the James J. Tappen Post No. 125 American Legion Horse Show in Staten Island.

CLARK WINS 100 MILE TRAIL RIDE

Norman Clark of Chevy Chase, Md. for the third year in a row has returned from the Woodstock, Vermont 100 Mile Trail Ride with honors won in the endurance contest. Ridden by Alfred Goodin, Jr. of Richmond, BO PEEP carried 175 pounds to bring in the winner in a decisive "no check" victory. The official statement has yet to be published but according to Mr. Clark, BO PEEP'S "no check" triumph was the first on record. "Checks" are given for finishing ahead or behind time for loss of weight and for general loss of condition. Mr. Goddin, Jr. was awarded the horsemanship award for the manner in which he brought in Mr. Clark's entry.

11 YEAR OID BO-PEEP
BO-PEEP, standing 15:2 and weighing 1,135 pounds was obtained some 5 years ago from Stuart Preece of Fairfax, Virginia. This eleven year old mare is of unknown breeding although an effort is being made to secure this from Mr. Preece. Colonel E. N. Hardy, Chief of the Remount is said to have stated that the mare was outstanding and finished as fresh as she was at the outset. BO-PEEP was the only horse in the field to carry additional poundage, toting 15 pounds overweight. There were 57 horses in the race this year, 10 or 12 thoroughbreds, some by TIME MAKER, BRUMADO and CUDGEL. Contestants had to traverse 40 miles in 7 hours the first two days and 20 miles the third day in 3 hours over considerable mountainous terrain.

Hippodrome Fills At Minn. Fair Show Nights

Mrs. Swift's Frameup And F. J. Anderson's Rysco Share Hunter Jumper Honors

In connection with the tremendous Minnesota State Fair, the Annual Horse Show was held on the first six evenings in the Hippodrome. This is one of the largest indoor horse show rings in the country, and every performance was crowded to capacity with enthusiastic fans. An outstanding feature was the unusual number of amateurowner-exhibitors August 25-30.

Particularly in the Hunter and Open Jumper Divisions owner-riders predominated with a very small minority of professional riders. The hunters were numerous and of high quality but they seemed bothered by the indoor conditions after a summer of showing out of doors, consequently the performances were not very consistent and no one horse dominated all the classes

Mrs. Louis Swift, Jr. of Wheaton, Ill., won her share of ribbons with her 6-year-old bay gelding Frame-up, by Royal Ford-Francaise by Black Tony, and her Arizona half-bred roan Range Rattler, Frameup won the Ladies', was in the winning Hunt Team, and was 3rd in the Hunter Stake. Range Rattler won the Middle and Heavyweight, was 3rd in the Novice, Ladies' and Teams, and 5th in the Hunter Stake. Mrs. Swift rode both horses through-Rysco, F. J. Anderson's bay of *Trevisco, won the Hunter Stake, was in the winning team, and was

2nd in the Middle and Heavy. He was ridden by Mr. Anderson's son

The Pair of Hunters Class was interesting in that the winners, Miss Eileen Bigelow's Moon Flight and Frank Long's King Power were both by the same sire, King's Lea by low-ton Field. This stallion was bred by G. A. Kingsley of Minneapolis and has been hunted and shown frequently. He seems to transmit real jump to his offspring and in this class Moon Flight and King Power jumped and moved as one horse. King's Lea is now owned by Addison Lewis of Minneapolis. Miss Bigelow, who rides all of her own horses, was on Moon Flight in the winning Hunt Team.

The Open Jumpers were also for the most part ridden by their owners and in contrast to the hunters liked the going so well that performances were clean and jump-offs frequent. The daily touch and out proved very exciting to the audience, especially in the finals when six of the eight horses qualified went clean at 4 ft. 6 in. The best Open Jumper was Escalator, a bay standard-bred owned and shown by Horace Hardy of Chicago. "Ace" Hardy is a student at Culver Military Academy, and when he won the finals of the Touch and Out he was presented in the ring with congratulations and a cooler in Culver colors from his school.

The Hunter and Jumper exhibitors came not only from the Twin City vicinity, but also from Chicago, Hinsda e and Wheaton, Ill., and from Prescott, Wis., Fred Pinch, of Montchanin, Del., judged the hunter thoroughbred types and, though Royalty II is in the half-bred book, the quality and substance he herits from the Man o'War and Ultimus lines on his sire's side as well as his dam's Royal Hampton lineage, have endowed this 5-yearold with a conformation that is outstandi-ng among today's heavy weights. When judges Mrs. Frederick Van Lennep, Jack Carpenter, Otto Furr and Danny Shea lined-up thes three eligibles, it was Royalty II who they placed at the top while Troop received the 2nd ribbon over Candolette. These latter two had vied closely on points for the runner-up laurels and Troop's second in the preliminary resulted in his being pinned the Reserve Champion.

Of the jumpers, Capt. Charles B. McClelland's brown gelding Smacko, entered in the name of the Fort Myer Horse Show Team and ridden throughout by Capt. McClelland, emerged with a total of 10 points and undisputed right to the Championship, while U. S. Randle's chestnut gelding Randle's Way and Fenton M. Fadeley's well known mare Lacquer Lady were found to be tied for the Reserve with 9 points each. In the jump-off which decided the matter, Johnny Keeler rode Randle's Way to a sensationally clean performance that earned unanimous approval from the stands as he was called in with Smacko to receive the secondary tricolor.

The show drew its share of good and bad weather alike, the opening day's activities being blessed with ideal conditions under sunny skies while Sunday's performances punctuated by a series of heavy showers that periodically slowed up the proceedings and sent spectators scurrying for shelter. Candolette, who with her owner-rider of Ashville, N. C. has been on a continuous circuit of the northern shows this summer and whose campaigning in-cluding the Hunter Championship of the Lakeville, Conn., Showin July, moved through Saturday's Working Hunter classes with serene consis tency to gain the blue in both the to All and the Ladies', called for performances over the four post-and-rail fences of the outside course, including an in-and-out. In addition to these triumphs, the 6year-old daughter of Canadian Ensign-Mandolette was 2nd to Troop in the Qualified Hunters and again 2nd to Dr. Lewis M. Allen's Clifton's Lad, recent Orange champion, in the Hunter Hacks. Miss Moffett rode Candolette to one more blue in Sun-day's class for Ladies' Hunters as well, this over a difficult course of 8 fences in the ring and then had the misfortune to be eliminated from contention in the Amateurs' Work ing Hunters when her otherwise faultless performance was spoiled by missing one fence on the outside course. First in this class was awarded to Troop who made an excellent showing under Alex Calvert's hand-

Royalty II, having gained but one blue on Saturday and a 4th behind Troop, Candolette and Mrs. M. E. Whitney's famous mare Epring Rope in the Qualified Hunters, began to hit the winning stride which sent him toward the Championship when Charlie Lewis rode him to a performance in the $300 Hunter Stake that, with conformation, quality, substance and soundness counting Troop was a close 2nd and Repulsion, ridden by his owner Miss Betty Couzens, came in for a 3rd that was indeed well deserved. The Corinthian class was marred by a nasty-looking spill that occurred when U. S. Randle's bay gelding Randle's Find refused a post-and-rail on the outside course and tossed Carroll onto the fence, knocking him out. recovered sufficiently to ride before the day was over, however. Candolette went well and clean, as usual and the judges placed her 2nd to Royalty, while Spring Hope, handled nicely by Miss Lisbeth Stieg, was an equally deserving 3rd.

> Lacquer Lady, whose return to show ring under owner Fenton Fadeley's handling, was enthusias-tically greeted by her many old friends and admirers, went through her various jumping classes with an airy manner that recalled her spectacular triumphs four years ago. Absent from the ring for a year while she underwent treatment for a contracted hoof, this gallant daughter of Crusader showed that she has lost none of her prowess during her lengthy convalescence and so made her presence felt in the $200 jumper stake, wherein she competed against many notable performers, that she tied for first with Gardner Hallman's good mare Lady Jack and it was only after a second jump-off in the slippery rain-soaked ring on Sunday that she at last gave way to her rival. This, with points won in other events, gave her equal rights to the Reserve with Randle's Way and two light ticks lost her this award in the final jump-off when Randle's Way went clean.

verbatim the words of the judges in each of the classes in order that a record could be made for future reference.

ribbon winners in the thoroughbred division were called back into the ring and the thoroughbred championship was awarded Mr. Bryson's brown yearling colt who later received the Grand Championship. Reserve went to a little brown filly foal by Kerry Patch out of Betoken and owned by Mrs. John M. F. Franklin of Cockeysville, Maryland. Judge Smith made his decision from the winners of the Thoroughbred Mare, Bracken a fine brown mare owned by Stuart S. Janney, a chestowned by Stuart's, Januey, a chest-nut colt by Nicodemus—Woodstyle belonging to Lyle T. Johnson, in the Thoroughbred Foals, Colts; a chestnut filly, Misidentity by Identify-Play Star owned by Mrs. Van Lear Black of Cockeysville, Maryland; Swasbuckler, the striking chestnut stallion by Canter-Binnacle of Janon Fisher's; Dumbarton a chestnut two year old by Petce Wrack--Whiskette belonging to J. Rieman McIntosh and the winner of the Thoroughbreds, three and four Thornglen, a chestnut olds. gelding by Which Mate-Glendale belonging to Mr. and Mrs. J. Hale Steinman of Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

Colonel E. N. Hardy, Chief of the United States Remount judged the Halfbreds and presented the Championship in this division to St. Mary of Ray L. Shoemaker's who later ame Reserve in the Grand Championship. Second award in the Halfbred division went to Rose of Sharon a big filly, winner of the halfbreds, three and four year olds, suitable to become hunters of the Kentucky Stables of Lutherville, Maryland and shown by the owner, Miss Catherine Bosley. Colonel Hardy placed these horses over the other half bred winners, Farnley Artemis, a halfbred mare suitable to produce hunters of Mr. and Mrs. A. Mackay Smith; a half bred foal of Norman J. Mortimer's suitable to become hunter; and a half bred yearling by War Here of E. D. and C. W. Williams.

Colonel Hardy after lining up the winners in the first class in the morning the half bred mares suitable to produce hunters took the microphone and prefaced his remarks as follows: "The basis that I will judge hunters or mares to produce hunters or young horses suitable to become hunters can be divided. First a hunting horse is a using horse. He must capable of being used. It is secondary if he is a pretty horse. He must be able to move well and gallop and jump the jumps he encounters

Second a horse is no better than his feet or legs. A horse cannot be onsidered a good horse unless he has good legs.

"Third the body must have certain points of conformation a sloping shoulder, good withers to move well. His shoulders should slope back like the roof of a house. He should not be too high on the leg. The parts must move well in relation to each other. This is what we call balance. If a horse moves well, it is a good horse. This movement is a very important factor in making decisions.

rortant factor in making decisions.

"In the halfbred mares the first horse is a mare of great bone and substance in her legs. She has considerable refinement and quality for a mare of her size. Her canon bone is 8 inches. The mare is a little bit higher on the leg than she should he I would also like to see a deeper body. Her hind legs are well under although some race (wners think it her. She travels well in a walk, trot.

She has a little flirt to her legs in a walk and trot but this is not serious. Her legs line up well. This horse is a little narrow. (Farnley Artemis, b. m. 1936, Cleveland Farnley-Lucy Grier, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mackay Smith, White Post Virginia).

"It is unfortunate that we cannot change the parts between the first and the second horses. I would like to change the legs of the first mare and put them on the body of the second mare. She is a good bodied mare. But she is back in the knee. She does not have the construction or bone in the front leg. I would like to see a better constructed canon bone. The second mare is a better type mother. She should give more milk, but by paying attention to the great importance of legs I decided that she should place second. (Big Sister, roan mare, 1936, Sir James; Percheron (Pade, Nancy Selhorst, Baltimore, Md.)

"Third horse; This is a fine big mare. She gives the impression of being too big and cumbersome to really gallop well. She has high action in front. She does not swing along in the low action we like. She has splendid bone but she does not look as if she had the balance and agility we want as well as size. (Farnley's Aerogil, b. m. 1936, Cleveland Farnley Cl. B.—Perfect Girl, Tb. Cannaday Farm, Sparks, Maryland).

"Fourth horse; Here is a mare on the nony type but she shows lovely

"Fourth horse: Here is a mare on the pony type, but she shows lovely balance. She moves well but carries her hind egs straddled out when she trots. There is no exaggerated knee action in front. She wastes no effort in lifting her knee. She is not quite the hunter type, but who can tell, she might produce a horse that will be better than the other three. (Convoy, gr. m. 1932, Thoroughbred sire, dam unknown, V. L. Elliott, Malvern, Pa.)

"Fifth horse: The objection to the first three horses is that they are not femine. This horse looks like a small thoroughbred. As this is a halfbred class to get substance, we have not considered her. Legs are not strong to negotiate cross country jumps. She does not have the necessary substance for a halfbred mare to get substance. (Little Girl dk., br. m. sire unknown, dam unknown, Daniel Lee and Frank H. Newell, Pikesville, Md.)

"Half-bred foals suitable to become hunters. Everybody knows that it is impossible to tell what foals will be like when they grow. I have judged them, the best way I could from the indications the foals show at the present time. The first foal looks well balanced, smooth. She is a well conformed young filly with nothing seriously the matter with hor. The foal moves well, has no serious fault in her movement. You seldom find a truer moving foal of this size. They improve as they grow. (ch. f., April 29, 1940 Cherry Hill Mack (Suf)—Easter Dale tb., Norman J. Mortimer, New Hope, Pa.)

"Second horse: This horse is by a thoroughbred sire out of a Cleveland Bay mare. He has plenty of size for his age. There is good conformation, a good way of moving I would like to see a longer, deeper shoulder and for the shoulder to lie in like a house top. This is a good prospect for a hunter. The second horse looks smoother, better balanced. (ch. c. April 17, 1940, Action th.—Farnley's Arrogirl Cl. B. Cannaday Farm, Sparks, Maryland).

"Third horse: This foal has good general conformation. A good way of moving. He does have quite as good balance. There is nothing the ma

"Fourth horse: This is a nice hunter prospect for his age. He is not quite as good shouldered a horse as a horse of his substance should be. He is in below the knee. He is common about the throat latch. He looks as if he would have a good disposition. (Gr. f. March 25, 1940, Cool Rock th.—Convoy, V. L. Elliott, Malvern, Penna.)

Malvern, Penna.)
"Fifth horse: This foal is a little fine for a half bred hunter. None can tell until he is a yearling. He is a little back in the knees and seems to have some trouble with his hind quarters. He is lower in front than behind. This is not wanted in hunters although some race (wners think it although some race (wners think it

"Second horse: This mare has a lot of age. She is long from elbow to stifle. She is short on top and has more length underneath. (Cassandra ch. m. 1925, Man o'War—Discretion, Janon Fisher Jr., Eccleston, Md.)

Fifth Horse: This mare is a good bodied mare. She is light below the knee. She looks a trifle plain. (Superficial, b. m. 1933 Supremus—Citrus, A. G. Vanderbilt, Glyndon, Md.)
Thoroughbred Foals, Colts: In placing this chestnut colt first, I have done so due to his beautiful balance. He could do with stronger hocks, but he is a pretty nice colt. (Ch. c., April 26, 1940, Nicodemus—Woodstyle, Lyle T. Johnson, Ellicott City, Md.)

Fifth Colt: This colt would have been placed higher in the ribbons but for his hocks which are rough. (B. c. February 12, 1940, Tedlous— Mad Beth, A. G. Vanderbilt, Glyn-Md.)

Thoroughbred Foals, Thoroughbred Foals, Fillies: I have placed the bay filly first on account of her perfect balance and quality. There is a småll blemish on her stomach which a doctor can take off in ten minutes. (Br. f. April 1, 1940 Kerry Patch—Betoken. Mrs. John M. Franklin. Cockeysville, Md.)

Second filly: I have placed this chestnut filly second due to the fact that she has the cleanest ankles. (Ch. f. March 22, 1940, Identify—Princess Peri. Mrs. Van Lear Black, Cockeysville, Md.) Fillies:

Thoroughbred Yearling Fillies: This filly is placed first because she is beautifully balanced. Might have better feet. She is in training now. (Misidentify, Ch. f. 1939, Identify—Play Star, Mrs. Van Lear Black.)
Second filly: This filly is deficient in bone. She has kind of a standard bred look about her. (B. f. 1939 Glastonbury—Amora, C. F. Hockley, Hyde, Maryland.)
Third filly: This filly might be stronger on her near front leg. She is beautifully balanced. (Br. f. 1939 Happy Time—Toddle Light, Mrs. Merrall MacNeille, Woodbine, Md.)
Fourth Filly: Too straight in the pasterns. (Ch. f. 1939 Whiskalong Predominant, G. R. Bryson, Kingsville, Md.
Half-bred Yearlings, suitable to become hunters: I noticed this horse first. He showed a balance and possesses good bone. (Ch. c. 1939, War Hero—Golden Morn. E. D. and C. W. Williams, Glyndon, Md.)
Second Horse: Legs are well set under him. (Resolution, br. g. 1939 Mountain Elk—La Roche Verte Dalsy, Sf. Norman J. Mortimer, New Hope, Pa.
Third horse: This is a well balanced small horse with good legs

Third horse: This is a well balanced small horse with good legs and good feet. (Valley Forge, b. c. 1939 Cherry Hill Mack Suf. Welcome Lady tb. Norman J. Mortimer, New Hope, Pa.)

Fourth horse: This is an attractive filly. I wanted to place her higher but she should not have such roughish hocks. Her front legs are tied in beneath the knees. (Penelope, Lt. ch. f. 1939 *Brumado—Li-Ti Miss Estella Everett, Bel Air, Md.)

Fifth Horse: This filly is slightly back in the knee. She has great length. Her hocks are small but well constructed. (Busy Toy, b. f. 1939 Wave On tb.—dam unknown, Daniel Lee and Frank H. Newell, Pikesville, Maryland.)

Thoroughbred Yearling Colts: In judging these yearlings, I have taken into consideration that some are in training and work and others are in show condition. The first horse has the best set of legs and feet in the class. This horse has wonderful hocks, substance and bone. Br. c. 1939 Display—Dogmatic, G. R. Bryson, Kingsville, Maryland.

Second horse: This is a nice well-rounded colt. Not in work. (B. c. 1939 Coq d'Esprit—Airy Fairy, Dr. L. M. Allen, Winchester, Va.

Third horse. This colt has good legs and feet. (ch. c. 1939, Infinite Glitter. G. R. Bryson, Kingsville, Maryland).

Fourth horse. This colt is in high flesh, but is gummy in one hock. (b. c. 1939 Skeeboo—My Gloria. Ray S. Shoemaker, Harrisburg, Pa.) Fifth horse. This colt will develope. He is a little cow hocked. A little rough. Should make a good jumper. (b. c. 1939 Flying Heels—Persian Lady, Stuart S. Janney, Glyndon, Md.

Fourth horse: A nice type (Morgil, gr. h., 1929, Morvich—Girl o'My Heart, James N. Barnes Owings Mills, Maryland.

Thoroughbreds, two year olds. suitable to become hunters. This is a horse of true substance and a lot of quality. He has good shoulders and should make a weight carrier. (Dumbarton, ch. g. 1938, Petee Wrack—Whiskette, J. Rieman McIntosh, Govans, Baltimore, Md.)

Second horse: This horse is high off the ground. (Fox Hill, ch. g. 1938 "Brumado— *Princess This Fox Hill Farm, Fallston, Md.)

Third horse: This horse is down in the pasterns, almost makes 6 tracks.

(Jumping Don, ch. g. 1938 *Donnacona—Marjorie Mai, Hugh J. O'Donovan Govans, Paltimore, Md.)
Fourth horse: This horse is calf kneed. (Miss Cacaway, ch. f. 1938 *King Arthur—Cacaway, Mrs. Dave H. Morris Jr., Chestertown, Md.)
Fifth horse: This horse toes out in front. (Ch. g. 1938 *Donnacona—*Neat Girl. Mrs. Thomas Ramseur, Phoenix, Md.)
Halfbreds, two year olds, suitable to become hunters: It was easy to pick first for this filly has size, substance and quality. She has exceptionally good front leg. The tendons stick out well. The bone feels hard. This filly has enough quality to go in the show ring. I would like to predict a good future for her. (St. Mary ch. f. 1938 St. Henry—H. C. Mare. Roy L. Shoemaker).
Second horse: This horse is a trifle back in the knees. It has good feet. The hocks could be improved upon. The construction from the hip down could also be improved. (Loch Raven b. f. 1938 *Brumado—Flying Finch. McDonough School, McDonough, Md.)
Third horse: This horse is very pleasing medium sized prospective hunter. He pushed the other two. She is well balanced. Could have more substance and bone in front. Close Coupled, good strong back. (Dum Dum III ch. f. 1938 Bois de Rose—*Fum Dum. C. E. Tuttle, Garrison, Md.)
Fourth horse: This is a nice moving horse that is not up to the other

*Fum Dum. C. E. Tuttle, Garrison, Md.)
Fourth horse: This is a nice moving horse that is not up to the other three in substance and class. He is back in the knee, He looks a little more common. He is a good serviceable prospect but not enough class for the show ring. (Easy Going b. c. 1938 *Brumado—dam unknown. Mrs. Joseph D. Baker Jr., Monkton, Md.)

Md.)
Fifth horse: This is a straight bodied young gelding but not enough bone in the front leg. He is a little back in the knee and I would like to see more quality in shoulder and withers. Probably will not gallop so well. (Bromo, br. c. 1938 *Brumado—Gay Light, W. D. Akehurst, Monkton, Md.) He has a good strong back. Will be a good keeper.

Thoroughbreds, three and four year olds: The winner in this class could have been described by Colonel Hardy when he placed first ribbon in the last class. The horse has beautiful clean bone with flint like hocks. (Thornglen ch. f. 1937 Which Mate—Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hale Steinman, Lancaster, Penna.)
Second horse: This horse is a little light below the knee and has a splint. Atakapa b. g. 1937 Bad Bill—Twinkling, Ray S. Shoemaker, Harrisburg, Penna.)
Third horse: A useful looking horse that lacks quality. Is calf kneed. Has good hocks. Could be deeper through the ribs. (Carinado ch. c. 1937 Brumado—Carinesa Joseph France, Baltimore, Md.)
Fourth horse: This is a very good mare with good shoulders, Her feet might be improved. (Gaea, gr. m. 1936 Roigrey—Princess Thia, Fox Hill Farm, Fallston, Md.)
Fifth Horse but is over in the knees. He has nice shoulders. Would rather have him over in the knees than calf kneed. (Red Sylvan ch. g. *Rosedale II—Sylvan Lassie, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hale Steinman, Lancaster, Penna.)
Halfbreds, Three and Four Year olds: Nearly all horses divide up into two distinct types. The first is smooth, showing a preponderance of the thoroughbred type. The other shows evidence of some other breed. This horse is the best. A nice type with a good shoulder, good line, good refinement and finish for a half-bred. His legs are set under him. There is a good arch between the front legs, not too wide, not too close. (Rose of Sharon, b. f. 1936 Flying Puritan—Beauty Bess. Kentucky Stables, Lutherville, Md.)
Second horse: This is half way between the other type, He does not have as much finish. He has good bone. His withers do not stick up much. (Farnley Bruiser b.

Smith, White Post, Va.)

Third horse: This one looks much like the second horse. He is less on the leg, is a little shorter, stronger back. Has good feet, good bone. A smaller leg of better quality is better than a big, mushy leg. (Farnley Advocate, b. g. 1936 *Cleveland Farnley Cl b.—Qulet Stroll tb. Mr. and Mrs. A. Mackay Smith.)

Fourth horse: This horse is a

Chagrin's Morning Ball
A unique and somewhat odd feature occurred after the Chagrin Valley Hounds' Labor Day hunt. It is a function which has been in existence out there for three years—namely a Cub Hunt Ball, breakfast and dancing from 8 to 11. Writes one enthusiastic member, "One has no idea what fun one can tie into at that hour of the morning. Granted the orchestra is a bit baffled and members from visiting hunts desire signed affadavits by the Master, but none the less we manage to dance merrily on into the soothing sunlight of the noonday hour."

Beaufort's Junior Show

The junior members of the Beaufort Hunt up in Harrisburg, Pa., put on their first Horse Show on Saturday, Sept. 7. Not only did the juniors manage the show themselves and secure their own entries, but they also erected the ring and the jumps, on the Beaufort Farms, estate of E. B. Mitchell, M. F. H., and his sister Mrs. Walter Gallagher. They also mimeographed their own programs and all entries were confined to riders under 21 years, strictly amateur, just as in Warrenton's Leny Manor Show. The Beaufort Junior Show had a total of 105 entries in 12 classes and was such a success that it will be continued next year.

Thoroughbreds Contradict
Thoroughbreds like Seabiscuit contradict the adage "they never come back." So may Burning Star who is entered in the New 'York Handicap, to be run Oct. 5, In 1936 Burning Star as a 2-year-old ran 5 times, winning twice. In the next 3 years this plodding and courageous thoroughbred ran 43 times, appearing from Saratoga to Hialeah and west to Chicago. In all 48 starts he won 11 times, was 2nd 8, 3rd 13 and 4th 3, winning $61,000. Last Autumn he was retired to a life of ease in Kentucky, Most of his races, of 1 1-2 to 1 1-4 were termed too short for him, chart makers frequently commenting: "closed fast with good courage." He has started well on his comeback trail, winning his 2nd start, the Hawthorne Handicap, at Hawthorne, Chicago, last Saturday, to the tune of $5,000 for his 1 1-8 mile effort. While the spotlight will be held on Challedon and Isolater, Burning Blaze's son may be one to consider. Steeplechasers still possibly being readied for this $50,000 N. Y. 'Cap include Louis Stoddard Jr's. Straw Boss, Mrs. E. du Pont Weir's Deanslaw and George H. Bostwick's Cottesmore (he cut his quarter in his last 'chase win and in consequence missed the National Cup).

King Cole scored at Aqueduct last Saturday. Whirlaway whisked off with the Saratoga Special and the Hopeful, and has the tradition believers as backers, that the best juvenile at Saratoga will be champion. New World, however, defeated Whirlaway in the Grand Union at the Spa, but the muddy Hopeful forced him to pass it up. Some believe that once New World gets clear the others would never catch him. Attention suffered a weight penality when beaten by Whirlaway, in the Hopeful, From the far West come claims of Porter's Cap backers, recent winner of the Washington Park Futurity. National Cup Scratches

It was most regrettable that 38 scratches appeared in the 4 race card at the Foxcatcher National Cup meeting last Saturday. Still, the smallest field was 4, in the Fair Hill 'Chase, the largest field was ten in the Lewisville flat and 28 horses in the 4 events, 12 over fences. Racing Secretaries should seek funds elsewhere than from patronizing owners with complimentary entries. Spectators find the disappointment of too many scratches and too few starters a lasting one.

Attention Bassets!

Attention Bassets!

All Basset owners are urged to bring their hounds to the 2nd Eastern Field Trial of The Basset Hound Club of America which is scheduled to take place on James Cox Brady's estate near Pottersville, N. J., on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 28 & 29. President of the Club is Mrs. Consuelo U. Ford, M. B., of the Bijoux Bassets of Banbury Cross, Old Chatham, N. Y. were 25 entries.

Pulling Contests

Pulling contests for teams owned by farmers in the Foxcatcher Hunt domain were held at the Cecil County Breeders' Fair—a farmers' day for those living in the Foxcatcher country. Ten teams were entered, the winners received cash and other pulgas.

Court Manor Matrons

Court Manor Matrons

The attention of every leading thoroughbred breeder is being focussed on the great Court Manor establishment at New Market. Va., where the entire group of the late Willis Sharpe Kilmer's famous brood matrons will go under the hammer on October 30, along with other notables of the stud and turf. Over 60 mares, most of whom are well known as producers, are listed to be sold, 24 of them being daughters of *Sun Briar, who will be retired to share a pension with Exterminator at the closing down of the plant. Among the mares by *Sun Briar listed for dispersal are Sunayr, dam of Nedayr, Sunphantom and other winners; Sun Bancer, dam of Winged Hoofs who won at Foxcatcher last Saturday; Sun Fritters, dam of fin Fritters: won at Foxcatcher last Saturday; Sun Fritters, dam of Gin Fritters; Sunny Love, dam of Dark Love; Sun Palatine, Sun Stream, Sunwina, Sun Palatine, Sun Stream, Sunwina, Sunzena and many many others. *Adorable II. by Sardanapale, dam of Sunador, Best Beau and Maebeau will be sold, as will Alexandria, by Pharos; American Air, by American Flag; the Traumer mares Dark Convent, Dark Edwina, Dark Fairy, Dark Goddess, Dark Love, Dark Palatine and Dark Victory. The Loudoun-Fauquier Health Center

There have been two changes in the organization of the Health Cen-ter in Middleburg which the Board of Trustees wishes made known to the public iblic or trustees wishes made known to the public.

1. Because of the many inquiries which have come in to the Health Center, and the misunderstanding which has arisen in many people's minds as to whether the Center could be used by Fauquier people as well as Loudoun, it was voted at the last meeting of the Board of Trustees to change the name from the Middleburg Health Center to the Loudoun-Fauquier Health Center. It was the intention of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mellon, who gave the Center to the community, that it was to be Continued on Page Twenty used by the people, the social services, and the Red Cross of both counties. The name "Middleburg Health Center" was chosen because the Center was located in Middleburg. The Board hopes that there will be no further doubt in the mind of the public as to whom the Center should benefit.

2. At the same meeting it was voted to elect two members from Fauquier County to the Board: these being Mrs. William C. Seipp and Mrs. Paul Mellon. The two doctors of the Health Center, Dr. Saffer who lives in Middleburg, and Dr. Warren who lives in Upperville, are already representatives of the two counties. It is felt that these two changes in the organization will do much toward bringing the two counties together and toward stimulating and coordinating this type of work.

Hunter Show Cancelled

Hunter Show Cancelled

Mrs. Thomas B. Davis, Chairman of the Middleburg Hunter Show Committee, which show is customarily held as a panelling benefit for the Middleburg Hunt, has announced that the event is cancelled for this year. "There are so many demands of late upon everyone's time and energy, upon their generosity as well, that it seemed to be ill-advised to burden people further with this extra activity.—This is only a postponement,—it is to be an annual event," comes the chairman's word.

Hobo's "Able Effort"

Hobo's "Able Effort"

Howard Butz's Hobo, the oldest high jumper on record (he's even reached the point where he won't tell his age any more), looked surprised and a little contemptuous as he found himself being exhibited in the Bridle Path Hacks at the Columbus Show last Sunday afternoon. His many acquaintences in the stands shouted in tones of derision as he and rider Malvern Bell circled the ring in company with such notables as Best Time, Golondrina, Candlette, Ball's Bridge, The Bear, Gee Ray Bee, Maui Girl and many others, but Hobo never lost his dignity and when the ribbons had been placed, though he was not among the elect, the judges announced that they wished to commend him for his "able effort". It seems that he got wished to commend him for his e effort." It seems that he got "able effort." It seems that he got in the class through some mix-up in the entries and, being the true sportsman that he is, was determined to go through with it.

Vicmead View Five

Last Thursday, Sept. 5, Vicmead Hounds, meetins in the lower "manor country," viewed 5 foxes, ran 4, accounted for 2, and otherwise turned in a cracking morning's cub-hunting sport. Huntsman Carver has 6 1-2 couple of North Cotteswold Hounds, a few cross-bred, and the balance American in his pack, according to the Vicmead enthusiast, Roy Freck, seen at the George Weymouths' pre-National Cup luncheon last Saturday, in Greeneville, Del. Simpson Dean, Master, says the English Hounds are excellent hunters. They have considerable Welsh in them. Vicmead is still bothered with mangy foxes.

The George Weymouths, regulars of Vicmead Hunt, were at the Spa, doing the Saratoga Sales. Mrs. Weymouth thought that it would be fun to try to find a hunter-prospect in the Hancock lot on the famous Hancock night. After inspecting the entire lot, and after many futile bids, Auctioneer Doc Bond suddenly pointed his gavel, following his "gone" wrap and their's was a Hadagal chestnut filly out of the Phalaris mare "Margosa, dam of the stake winner Saunderstown (18 wins), Guardrail, (7 wins); Pass (14 wins), High Treason, Acquin and the producer Margo, for $850.

Roby Pupil Wins Memorial Trophy It was fitting that The "Bobby" Roby Memorial Trophy, donated to the Columbus Horse Show Commit-tee by the late Washington rider's many friends and presented at the 6th annual exhibition last Sunday by Betty Couzens, should be offered to the "horse or pony scoring the greatest number of points" in any division, as "Bobby" rode all types and conditions of horses. But it was even more fittine that the first winner of the trophy, Robert S. Waters' hunter champion Royalty II, should be ridden by 22-year-old Charlie Lewis, for it seems that it was "Bobby" himself who taught Charlie to ride and introduced him to his first show audience at the Capital's Riding and Hunt Club perhaps a decade ago. Roby's purpil developed into one of the outstanding professional riders on the eastern circuit, reaching the top last winter at the Garden in piloting the Alvin Untermyers' Illuminator to the National Championship just as "Bobby" was hanging up his tack for all time. The trophy, a sterling silver statuette of a Corinthian hunter and rider over a fence, mounted on a marble base, was presented to Charlie and Royalty following their winning performance in the afternoon's Corinthian Class which, added to triumphs in the Open Hunters, the Model Hunters and the $300 Hunter Stake, gave them a total Galight to see Fenton M.

Lacquer Lady Returns

t was a delight to see Fenton M.
eley's great jumping mare Lacr Lady at Meadowbrook's ColumHorse Show near Chevy Chase, last Saturday and Sunday after Fadeley's great jumping mare Lacquer Lady at Meadowbrook's Columbus Horse Show near Chevy Chase, Md., last Saturday and Sunday after so long an absence. Trouble with a contracted heel on her near fore which developed into arthritis and finally laid her up entirely for the past year has been curtailing her activities since that season of sensational performances in 1936. Mr. Fadeley had given up hope of ever showing her again when Dr. Larmour Oyster of Chevy Chase, who has been experimenting with a new type of diathermic treatment and Col, Sperry, Army veterinarian at Fort Myer, undertook to cure Lacquer Lady's malady. After cutting away two inches from the quarters of each fore hoof, bar shoes were applied to spread the new growth of hoof which was followed up by the diathermal treatments. The mare has had little jumping since her long convalescence, albeit much exercise and hacking and, after some 44 jumps on Saturday and more than 50 on Sunday, said her owner-rider, "She felt better and stronger under me at the end of the show than she did at the beginning." Her performance in the $200 Jumper Stake when she was second to Gardner Hallman's Lady Jack after two jump-offs was little short of brilliant and gave every promise of a return to her former successes.

Helpful Criticism

Helpful Criticism

The inspiration for the idea of having the judges announce the reasons for their awards at the Timonium Thoroughbred and Hunter Breeder's Show was apparently given to Humphrey Finney and Janon Fisher three years ago in Chestertown, Md. They were judging a small show there and were asked by the committee to give the reasons for their ribbon placing. Humphrey Finney, somewhat startled by the thought, said "Do you mean you want us to give you the works?" On receiving a reply in the affirmative Mr. Finney apparently told exhibitors of every splint, curb, spavin and weak ankle in the show. The next year, down at the same show, Mr. Finney noted a much improved lot of horses. They seemed to have benefitted by the criticism.

Picture Reversed

As many of Maryland's best horsemen looked on at the Thoroughbred and Hunter Show at Timonium on Monday, some noticed a reverse picture. Dean Bedford usually well dressed and immaculate was in overhalls and blue shirt. Janon Fisher, noted for his overalls on almost any working day appeared in the best of Seersucker combinations. It was not long, however, before the hardworking Janon no doubt wished for his overalls as a large rent appeared in the knee of his fancy attire.

Blockade Being Readied
A visit to Janon Fisher's hospitable farm house held a rare treat, for Blockade was out for his first breeze since the Maryland Hunt Cup. The trainer of the three time winner has been galloping the chestnut son of Man o'War, but Monday was his first breeze, in a bit less than a two minute clip for the mile and the big gelding looked already fit, though carrying a trifle more flesh than usual. This good trainer is preparing him for his new owner E. C. Tuttle for the fall meetings. Blockade will start at Rolling Rock, then go to Monmouth, then the New Jersey Hunt Cup. After that, if all goes well he will run at West Hills and end up at Middleburg in the running of the Middleburg Cup. It will be the first time this greatest of all timber horses has raced outside of Maryland.
